UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, } ss.
DISTRICT OF OREGON. }

WHEREAS, a libel of information has been filed in the District Court of the United States of America for the District of Oregon, on the 3d day of March, A. D. 1863, by Edward K. Mellen, Attorney of the United States for the said District of Oregon, in behalf of the United States against the ship or vessel, to-wit: The steamboat called the Morris, her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that William L. Adams, Esq., Collector of the Customs for the Port of Astoria, on the 3d day of March, 1863, at the Port of Portland, in said District of Oregon, on waters navigable from the sea by vessels of ten or more tons burthen, seized said ship or vessel, to-wit: said steamboat called the Morris, her tackle, apparel and furniture, and then held the same in custody as said Port of Portland as forfeited to the use of the United States of America; that said steamboat being an American ship or vessel, duly registered as such at the Port of San Francisco in the District of California, was in the year 1859 at the Port of Victoria in Vancouver's Island, the same being a foreign port, sold or transferred, in whole or in part, in trust, confidence or otherwise, to a subject or subjects of Her Britanic Majesty; that in the month of August, 1862 the said steamboat Morris did enter the Port of Astoria, in said District of Oregon, the same being the first American Port at which she had entered since said sale or transfer, and that said sale or transfer was not made known, as by law required; contrary to the statute in such case made and provided; and that by said sale and transfer and the neglect to make the same known, as aforesaid, the said steamboat, her tackle, apparel and furniture became forfeit to the United States of America. And that a certificate of register granted to the said steamboat Morris, as an American vessel, at the port of San Francisco in the District of California, July 29, 1858, was, on the 8th day of August, 1862, at the Port of Astoria, in the District of Oregon, fraudulently or knowingly used for said steamboat Morris, she being a ship or vessel not then (to-wit: on said 8th day of August, 1862) entitled to the benefit thereof, according to the true intent of the Act of Congress entitled "An Act concerning the registering and recording of ships or vessels," approved December 31st, 1792, by which libelant or those under whom he said certificate of register of said steamboat Morris, her tackle, apparel and furniture became forfeit to the United States of America. And praying that the same may be condemned as forfeited as aforesaid.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the monition under the seal of this said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming the said ship or vessel, to-wit: the said steamboat Morris, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, that they be and appear before the said District Court, to be held at the Court House in the City of Portland, in and for the said District of Oregon, on the first Monday in April next after the fourteen (provided the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose their claims and make their allegations in that behalf.
WILLIAM H. BONNETT,
U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.
Dated, March 7th, 1863. d14t.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

MONDAY MORNING, MAR 16, 1863

Divided Patriotism.

In the time of war, based on a just and righteous cause, and especially if waged in defence of the Government and for the continuance and security of the institutions of liberty, there ought to be only one party amongst patriots, the sole and hearty purpose of which should be the defeat of those who are banded together as foes and rebels. Is this so at the present time? Leaving, for the moment, out of sight the miserable faction of sympathisers—who ought to go and personally serve the masters they profess to love, no longer polluting the free air of the loyal States by their infamous presence—we find even the friends of the Government at issue among themselves, and wasting its strength which ought to be consolidated and fervent, by immaterial dissensions and quarrels. All political questions deserving to be so regarded have been submerged, and in their place we have moral, military and personal issues, of slight consequence in themselves, but made of sufficient importance to divide and distract the energy which ought to be employed in one massive and tremendous body against the common foe Some think more of slavery or emancipation than of the Union, others prefer defeat to the displacement of McClellan, or Fremont, or this or that favorite General, while yet others make their loyalty yield to devotion to the interests of Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Seward, or some body else, or to their share in contracts, their possession of office or their theories of finance Thus the power of the Government, which might have been invincible, and long ago, by its immense presence, have crushed the rebellion out of sight, grinding to powder its infernal projectors and abettors, has been reduced and weakened, its assaults have been impotent and ineffectual, and to day it is compelled, in the best way possible, to gather up its divided sinews of strength for new and more united action. Whose fault all this may be we care not now to consider, but the fact is undeniable, and whether we blame the Administration for lack of energy, or the people for want of confidence and cordial support, or for expecting too much and then becoming too easily dissatisfied, the present question that presses upon us, is what shall be done to secure triumph? How shall the victory which the country demands for its salvation be won? Surely, not by longer strifes and disputes among loyal men, nor by giving to the plans adopted by those in power a cold and reluctant support. Even if the Administration is as weak as is often stated—and hardly any one seems disposed to defend it except those in office under it, whose support is not always disinterested or intelligent—even, we say, if it is weak, shall its feebleness be made more mischievous and ruinous by finding fault with its measures, and persistent opposition to them? For two years it must continue in power. During that time the war will be over or the country ruined forever The responsibility is upon it for the adoption of measures which will save the Union, and the people will rightfully hold it to a just accountability; but if they refuse, for any reason, to support those measures, putting private judgment, in this emergency, in advance of public and patriotic duty, they assume the responsibility, while they sacrifice the Government and blast the hopes and the glory of the land forever. The nation can bear the imbecility and frauds and ignorance of office-holders and the enormous stealing of contractors, —indefensible and damnable and overwhelming, even, as these may be—but it cannot bear and survive the want of patriotism, or that equally dangerous spirit of conditional loyalty which would sacrifice the blessings of liberty and union unless they be maintained according to its own opinions or fancies First with united energy vanquish and punish the rebels, and then, if there be cause, punish and cover with condemnation and everlasting shame those, whoever they may be, whose weakness or wickedness has protracted the war, and made the victory costly in treasure and in blood,

NOT A COPPERHEAD —John A Logan, well known as a thorough Democrat, and nothing else, and for many years a member of Congress from Southern Illinois, is now a Brigadier-General in the army, with General Grant. He lately used the following plain language in regard to the Illinois copperheads, who had counted on his support in their nefarious schemes to sacrifice the country to secession

"Tell them" he said, "tell them up North that we can whip the rebels and are going to do it, and when we are done we are going to return home, and when we get there we shall yet be strong enough to summarily punish any secession sympathizers or peace preachers that we may be able to find in our way"

That was poor consolation for the Secesh "up North" who looked for bread and got a stone—for fish, and were stung by a scorpion Good enough for them

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

Legal Tender Notes this Day—75 cents.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—Active preparations are being made by the sons of the Emerald Isle to celebrate their great natal day, in memory and honor of their patron Saint Patrick. The Portland and Vancouver Hibernian Benevolent Societies have extended an invitation to all Irishmen in Portland Vancouver, and vicinity, to join with them in celebrating the day. All those desirous of joining in the festivities are requested to meet at the Gymnasium Hall, on Second street, at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning next. A ball will be given in the evening, at the Gymnasium Hall, and every arrangement will be made to ensure a pleasant and merry time.

OFF.—The Sierra Nevada succeeded in getting clear of the bank, yesterday about noon, on which she had run on the morning previous during the heavy fog. The steamer did not run on the bar as generally reported upon the street, but on to the bank of the river some half a mile above the head of Swan Island. The steamer Maria was employed in lightening her cargo sufficient to enable her to back off into deep water again, when she took her departure for San Francisco.

CASUALTY.—We learn that a painful accident occurred to Mrs. Samuel Brown, of Belpassi, on Tuesday last, in which she was thrown and dragged by a horse some two hundred yards, bruising and mangling her limbs below the knee. It is believed, however, that no bones were broken, though severe wounds were inflicted, from which we sincerely hope she may speedily recover.

ACCIDENT.—A couple of young gentlemen, while driving a span of horses and buggy along Front street, yesterday afternoon, met with an accident in the vicinity of the What Cheer House. The horses became unmanageable and backed off the bank into the river. Fortunately no serious damage was done except to the harness.

GALE NEWS.—By reference to our telegraphic dispatches, it will be seen that green backs are still on the advance in San Francisco and New York. Therefore, we think we may safely quote them at 75c, this morning.

PERSONAL.—Lieut. Col. Moury and Major Rinearson of the Oregon Cavalry, are on a visit to our city. They have been to Fort Vancouver on business connected with their command.

NEW ADS.—A number of hotel and restaurant bills will be found in this morning's issue, and as many of our readers are personally interested in knowing where to go to find good and palatable provisions, we advise all to read the new advertisements of the various establishments, and surely, among so many good places, all who are in want will find entertainment. Messrs. Buchtel & Cardwell announce that they have completed arrangements by which they are now prepared to photograph pictures in a better style than ever, besides other improvements. See for yourself.

Who Owns the Street!

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

TO the correspondent "Front Street," appearing in the Oregonian of the 7th inst., desiring to know who owns Front street, and having left you, as a journalist, will not enter into any discussion with any gentleman on the subject, I will take pleasure to do so. Some years since the commander of an American man-of-war, while lying in a foreign port, gave orders to have no person to come on board. During the day, an individual possessing an inquisitive turn of mind, (like our friend in question,) presented himself, but was informed of the orders, when he still demanded the right to come on board, asserting that he was an American and owned the ship. The Commodore hearing the conversation, walked to the gangway side and cutting a small piece from the bulwarks, threw it to the man, telling him to know he held under his control all his interests in the Navy of the United States, and recommended him to be off.

I own that portion of Front Street for which I pay a rental, and claim the right to make such use of it as in my judgment I see fit, so long as it is not detrimental to my neighbors, and my object in putting a "big washboard" across the street, is to attract more enterprising people to my place of business than your correspondent "Front Street."

A. J. BUTLER,
Pioneer Hat Store.

SCHOOL DISTRICT CASE.—In our issue of 7th February we noticed the case of C. O. Hosford vs. G. B. Gray, Clerk of School District No. 2, in this county, and we are now informed that after the decision of the Circuit Court, to which the case was carried on certiorari, a new trial was had last week before a magistrate and the defendant obtained the verdict, thereby, as we suppose, being justified in his proceedings to collect the School tax due from Mr. Hosford.

FROM THE DALLES.—The Mountaineer says that Lieutenant Halloran, with a command of twenty soldiers, left the Dalles on Saturday morning, for the Warm Springs Reservation, to protect the Indians against the Snakes.

A train of eighty two pack mules left the Dalles on Friday last, for Boise mines. The value of the freight was $6,000.

Consumption Curable.—DR. HALL'S BALSAM is highly recommended by citizens whose names and residence will be found in the pamphlets giving the most satisfactory evidence of astonishing cures of CONSUMPTION, by using this medicine. The "Balsam" should be used in April.

The GREATEST CLASS of the CENTURY are MEDICATED STEAM MEDICINE

The Mysteries & Powers of Natural Nature Electricity & Galvanism applied to the Cure of Acute and Chronic Diseases

THAT THIS NEW AND SUCCESSFUL APPLIED Science has attained the highest degree of perfection ever known, and that it is destined to become the great curative agent of the 19th century, is now fully established by the most indisputable evidence. Its principle of vitality is known as nervous influence, and the great Galvanic battery is the instrument by which it is applied to the system.

Too Much Cannot be Said

In praise of this truly wonderful discovery. Words are inadequate to express the feelings of the thousands who have been restored to health and happiness by its use—when the whole system is thoroughly electrified with animal life, and every nerve, fibre and muscle in the body is charged with its subtle fluid—when the blood is purified, the current of life and health is seen to flow through every vein, and the whole man is made a living, breathing, moving, and perfect being. Is this not exciting, and should it not be the object of every sufferer to obtain so great a blessing as this science can confer? If this be so, then we must first restore the

Awaken the Magnetic Life within us

The spinal nerves supply the nervous system. Believing, as I do, that all the natural functions are governed by ELECTRICAL operations, and that the only way to take advantage of the Present high state of excitement on the subject, that is, while science is No Compromise with Disease.

Give the debilitated and nature will relieve herself. Purify the life blood, restore the stomach, liver, heart, kidneys and all the natural functions are restored by ELECTRICAL operation, and at once the mind, the nerves, the spirits, the melancholy, the dyspepsia, and the 12 volt current under its benign influence

To the Ladies of California.

Dr. Van Zandt's success with complaints of women both in family and office practice is owing to his correct views of the origin of all their maladies. Ladies can consult him with confidence and safety, as he is a stranger upon human ills—but is proving himself the only member of the legitimate profession in California who is really successful in restoring those ills which are the peculiar province of the sex. His high appreciation of their delicately attuned nervous organism, together with their great sympathetic life centers, and his ability to assuage these silent complaints which they bear so patiently and so long. And social disquietudes no longer afflict our home circles, for he can awaken the stricken energies, restore the wasted body, and by the daily newspaper, the periodical or pathological arrest the development of such cases as much anxiety, cure those protean maladies which have so long

Baffled the Skill of Physicians.

Develope appetite life and animation, dispel nervous headache, sinking, at the stomach, wandering pains, wasting away of strength, extreme debility and lifelessness, hysterics, tough sleeplessness, unpleasant dreams and that general depression of life's powers, which go to render her life a misery, an idiot's boon. Dr. Van Zandt, with his new method of exciting the Electro-Galvanic current together with his celestial measures which are adapted to the necessities of California, will assure you of a complete and radical recovery of all bodily and mental infirmities, and will restore you to usefulness and spare you a blessing to your family and society.

All the world over wherever disease exists whether special to the soil and climate or coming to us by emigrations—endemic or coastal, acute or chronic contagious or miasmatic—it is necessary to restore the ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years and verified by hundreds of patients, so that in principle of science a rule of experience no result of any well known cause rests upon more sure and unassailable foundations than those which underlie the world wide reputation of Electricity for the cure of all nervous states of the body, fault, digestion mental and physical debility or prostration coughs asthma wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or hereditary character and all forms of disease the fruit of vicious habits or cachetic habit of body.

None Need Despair of Relief

If you have ulcers which will not heal—pains that cannot be restrained—melancholy which you cannot shake off—loss of vigor which you cannot regain—depression of spirits which weigh you down—wakefulness that knows no sleeping—business that languishes for want of energy—a mind which has completely run off—suppleion which no assurance can allay—call on Dr. Van Zandt for his great success and the safety with which he administers his new method of electrical excitation together with his remedies which are adapted to the requirements of climate and constitution will insure you a complete and radical removal of all bodily and mental infirmities within the scope of science and man to remove.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr. Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a diploma for that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are purely deranged nervous action and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

SEND FOR A CIRCULAR.

DR. BAKER'S
PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can truly say that I have never known any, however delicate, to injure by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose or Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night, it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time, it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

The King and the Banker

"Some time ago," said Mr Peabody, the banker, to the writer of the following anecdote, "business of importance required my speedy presence at the Prussian capital Our house had not long before been established, and as the Prussian government wanted money, I thought it expedient to see their minister myself without delay The journey was somewhat dangerous, as the state of Germany had become rather precarious The French had again been so polite as to pay us, unasked, a visit, and were not likely to look with a very kind eye on a banker who was hastening to the seat of government to lend money However, I was young, undaunted, of a happy flow of spirits, and cared neither for Napoleon nor any of his adherents, and so I bid Anthony, who is my witness'—the well embroidered footman nodded complacently from behind the chair of his master— to make himself ready, to place some wine and dozen pheasants in our chest, and to take his seat in the post chaise The pheasants were intended as a present for the Prussian finance minister I felt highly delighted when I arrived at the frontiers of Saxony, but my joy was soon to give way to other sensations I was always fond of a good dinner and a good glass of wine, things which are rarely to be met with in Saxony. It is a wretched country, and their wine is stuff compared to which our vinegar is nectar. I had traveled three days, and changed horses fifteen times My bottling establishment was nearly out when I found myself on the borders of Prussia, a vast desert of sand where nothing grows but the hungry pine and curly headed children, yet still they might put better dinners before respectable travelers. It is really a shame, nothing but dry veal, potatoes and beer! You may judge, sir, of my situation by the fact that I was obliged to attack the chest which contained the intended present for the Prussian minister, and to purloin one of the pheasants. I ordered Anthony to cook it, it was excellent, and so was my last bottle of Rheinish. My appetite being satisfied, I mounted my post-chaise again, and proceeded on my journey. Our wheels plowed through the waves of sand as deeply as a three-decker through the billows of the sea.

My patience at length became exhausted, and, being weary of looking at the sandy surface, I fell asleep. Shortly afterward a terrible shock awakened me I endeavored to look round, but could not. I struggled to open my mouth; it filled with sand My feet were fast in the carriage. I was near being killed In short, the axle-tree of the chase, and one of the wheels were broken. Anthony had fared somewhat better than his master, and he relieved me from my disagreeable situation Now, sir, you may believe me, this was no joke. There I was, fifteen miles from Berlin, and two from the next village, with a portfolio containing several hundred thousand dollars in paper, and no conveyance. Presently I discovered a carriage travelling the same road. It approached. Two gentlemen occupied the seats. A footman was behind My resolution was soon taken; I ordered Anthony to get my post-chaise repaired, and to follow me to the Brandenburg hotel as soon as possible. Thus resolved, I stepped toward the carriage, which had now come up to us.

"Gentlemen," said I, lifting my hat civilly, "will you be so good as to afford a traveler, whose chaise you see is broken, a seat in your carriage?"

"Certainly," said the youngest, "please to step in."

I did so. The first minutes were passed in surveying the strangers, with whom my happy, or unhappy, stars, I knew not which, had brought me in contact. I was in a military country, and I was soon convinced that my new companions were military men.

The complaisance of these strangers soon restored me to my former good humor, and thinking it my duty to meet their politeness by similar advances, I began to enter into something like conversation with them, they, however, were not the most talkative persons in the world. I spoke of the war which was raging between France and Austria, but I received only a nod. I went over the prospects of Prussia—no answer at all, the old gentleman was as dry as a chip, the young one as shy as a lark. I hate sullenness, especially in young men, and thinking that my subjects were perhaps disagreeable, I changed them to the state of the country I was not very lavish of my praise, and censured the government for not repairing the roads. Both gentlemen were extremely attentive, but still more reserved. I had now tried every means to bring them into conversation At last I spoke of my fare, and of the miserable dinners provided for travelers. They smiled.

"What do you think, sir," said I, addressing the young man, "I have dined upon?" A pheasant I knew he never would guess.

"I do not know, sir"

"Well, guess then," said I.

The young man looked significantly, and entering into my humor, returned.

"I do not know, indeed; perhaps a shoulder of mutton?"

My hand fell involuntarily upon his knee.

"Higher," said I

"Well, then, perhaps you have dined on a goose?"

"Higher," replied I, placing my hand a second time on his knee.

"Then it was a chicken," said he,

"Higher," replied I, accompanying my word with a third slap.

"You have not, surely, dined on a turkey in so poor a country?"

"Higher, sir," returned I, striking him for a fourth time on his knee.

"Well, then, it must have been a pheasant"

"You have hit it, sir, a pheasant brought from Frankfort, and of you will do me the honor of being my guests at the Brandenburg hotel, you shall dine off pheasants, too."

Neither promised to come, but both smiled

After this dialogue we rode several miles without speaking a single word, when the young man, in quite a friendly tone, said

"Now, sir, to ask you a question, whom do you think you ride with?"

This question was put in the usual brisk tone of a Prussian officer. I looked at the stranger a moment, he was about my age but much taller. His dress was a plain surtout, and his head was covered with a woolen cap, strongly set in leather, with a narrow gold brim. He had a good deal of the military cast.

"Well, said I, I think I have the pleasure of being in company with a military gentleman—a captain, said I, askingly

"Higher, said the young man, striking me in his turn on the knee.

The old gentleman now began to laugh

"A major, then, said I.

"Higher,' repeated he, slapping me a second time

He understands a joke, thought I

"So young and already a colonel?"

"Higher," said he again, with a fourth slap

He is getting impudent thought I I looked confounded at his assurance

"Then I have the honor to be in company with a general,' said I, with sarcastic mere dulity.

"Higher,' he still replied, with another slap on the knee.

This, I thought, is the most impudent fellow I ever met with, and giving vent to my impatience, said

"Then you are a field marshal!"

We were by this time before the Brandenburg gate I was fully persuaded that I was treated as a dupe by my companions The higher of the young man's rank rendered me that I was thunderstruck when the hats flew off in every direction. "Gondu des" shouted the multitude, and officers and others rushed from the guard house to their stations the drums were beating, the arms presenting a number of carriages passed through the gate, and, in the confusion of the crowd thronging from every side, I lost sight of the royal personage to whom all these honors were paid. Our carriage whirled fast toward the Brandenburg hotel

Where do you wish to alight' said the young gentleman

"At the Brandenburg hotel if you please, was my answer

"There it is' said he

I leaped from the carriage took my portfolio and bowing requested the pleasure of seeing them at dinner

'You shall see us, said the younger, and off they went

"The landlord and waiters of the hotel all rushed toward me as I entered the gate bowing to the ground The former addressed me by the title of highness

'My name' said I 'is Peabody, banker Do you know the gentleman with whom I arrived"

"Gentleman" repeated the landlord, significantly, 'it was the king

"A good joke,' said I, the young fellow was near telling me so himself'

"Beg your pardon, banker, said the landlord, 'but please to use other terms when you speak of his majesty'

"You are not in earnest" said I

"But I am, though, it is the king'

"The waiters and fifty other persons who had assembled round me, pledged themselves for the truth of the landlord's assertion

"There was no doubt it was the king with whom I had made so free!

I am, sir, a republican, and not afraid of any king in Christendom, yet the affair might have become a serious one I had dropped expressions which were not suited to royal ears, and which I might have kept more wisely to myself. How would he take these little things? what might he think of me' were thoughts which kept me awake for the greater part of the night.

The next morning I began the rounds of my visits I found the finance minister most extremely rough. When I returned home the landlord informed me that a royal page had been at the hotel, summoning the banker to the castle

Well, thought I, nothing can happen worse than hanging, and throwing myself into a hackney coach I rolled toward the royal residence of the king The appointed hour was five I was conducted through number less guards into the royal apartments When the last door opened, I beheld my traveling companion seated on an ottoman On his right side was a most beautiful lady two boys and as many girls were playing in the chamber.

A king, thought I, who can enjoy domestic happiness, cannot be a tyrant, and I stepped resolutely forward

"This, dear Louise,' said his majesty, 'is the banker, who so agreeably entertained me yesterday"

"Banker Peabody,' said the lovely queen, "we hope you will take a better opinion of our country home with you"

She stretched out her hand and I was permitted to kiss it

Nor was this all I had to tell my whole adventure over I, however, omitted the slapping on the knee In short, I spent the most agreeable hour in my life The following day I concluded my money business. The royal condescension had rather too much captivated the otherwise cool banker I entered somewhat deeply into Prussian money matters—so deeply, that his royal majesty, twelve months afterward, had well nigh ruined me I do not know whether I would not have forgiven him for the sake of this hour. However, Frederick William has since honestly paid me both debt and interest

PROSPECTUS.

THE UNDERSIGNED TAKE PLEASURE IN announcing to the citizens of Dallas City Polk County, and the public generally of Oregon and Washington Territory that on or about Monday, the 6th day of April we will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper at Dallas City, Oregon to be called the

"DEMOCRATIC STATE JOURNAL

The JOURNAL will be devoted to the interest the principles and augmentation of the Democratic organization upon the basis of the State and National platforms of that party, upon which the late glorious victories in the great States of New York Pennsylvania Indiana Illinois Ohio and New Jersey were achieved, and which such able and patriotic statesmen as Seymour and Richardson are the champions and defenders It shall be the aim of the JOURNAL to aid the Democratic party unswervingly by speaking the truth and discussing public measures freely fully and fearlessly without hope or expectation of favor or reward other than the proud satisfaction of doing the duty of an American Citizen

Due and ample attention will be paid to the mining interest by chronicling all information of discoveries and operations in the extensive and gradually developing gold fields East of the Cascade Mountains These are early full and reliable intelligence upon this important branch of industry, arrangements have been perfected which will secure to the JOURNAL authentic and regular correspondence from all the different localities affecting public attention The interest of the State both general and local will receive prominent attention In a word, we are determined to publish a journal that may be perused with pride by all
